DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-22 are pending in this application.

Drawings

1. The drawing(s) filed under 37 CFR 1.184 or 1.152 are accepted by the examiner.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on February 11, 2004 and August 31, 2005 was noted and the submission is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the examiner has considered the information disclosure statement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 9 and 10 recites the limitation "insoluble film-forming polymer and enteric polymer" in lines 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 4. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ratnaraj et al. (US 5,658,919) in view of Singh et al. (US 5,759,579) and of Barry et al. (US 5,055,306).

Ratnaraj et al. discloses a novel suspension system containing acetaminophen (col. 2, lines 46-55). Column 4, lines 1-2 teach the system is suitable from suspending acetaminophen powder. The suspending system (examiner relates it to the vehicle as claimed by applicant) comprises xanthan gum and a mixture of microcrystalline cellulose and sodium carboxymethylcellulose (col. 2, lines 51-53). Table 1 of columns 6 and 7 disclose the addition of water to the vehicle, a glycol such as propylene glycol, sweeteners and flavoring agents. The prior art does not teach the particles being coated with a controlled release composition, the composition having a therapeutic effect of least about 8 hours and the NSAID is a propionic acid derivative.

Singh et al. discloses a pharmaceutical suspension system comprising finely divided pharmaceutically active compounds and liquid excipient suspension system comprising water, and the suspending agents xanthan gum and hydroxypropyl methylcellulose (col. 1, lines 4-12). Column 2, lines 30-35 teach that the active compounds can be non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs) and other analgesic drugs such as acetaminophen. Of the NSAIDs for use in the system propionic acid derivatives can be employed (col. 3, lines 3-7). Preservatives, sweeteners, and flavoring agents can be used in the system (col. 4, lines 5-10). The various examples in columns 4-7 teach the concentrations of the drug as about 3.20% and a least 40% water.

Barry et al. discloses sustained release formulations of pharmaceutically active substances. The formulations comprise a core and a coating. Examples of the active agents can be non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs) (col. 7, lines 3-27). Column 5, lines 64-65 teach that the formulation for the granules provides a sustained release over a period of 12 hours. Column 6, line 49 through column 7, line 2 teaches examples of the coating such as acrylic polymers sold under the name EudragitTM.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the combine teachings of Ratnaraj et al. (a suspension of acetaminophen) in view of Singh et al. (a suspension of NSAIDs) and of Barry et al. to disclose the claimed invention. One of ordinary skill would use the coating compositions of Barry et al. to coat the drugs of Ratnaraj et al. or Singh et al. for the purpose of providing a sustained release profile for the active agent. With respect to the claimed concentrations, absent a clear showing of criticality, the determination of particular concentrations is within the skill of the ordinary worker as part of the process of normal optimization to achieve the desired results of the claimed composition.

Conclusion

5. Claims 1-22 are rejected.
